

DEADLOCK UNBROKEN IN RACE FOR NOMINATION

Democratic National Convention Adjourns Until This Morning After Casting Twenty-Second Ballot Late Saturday Night—No Promise of Relief When Balloting is Resumed Today—Cox Maintains Lead, With McAdoo Second and Palmer Third — Senator Glass Confirms Reports That President Wilson is Taking No Part in Situation—William Jennings Bryan Offers Suggestion That Convention Seek New Candidate.

San Francisco, July 4.—The day of rest brought to the democratic national convention no release from its twenty-second ballot deadlock and no promise of relief tomorrow.

Fruitless search for a dark horse who could win, least the lived, muddled and even exasperated forces with nothing more tangible than likelihood of a straight-out fight between Cox and McAdoo and growing hopes that a Moses would spring up from the wilderness to lead them out of their wilderness.

All ears were cocked toward the White House for the magic word. For the first time in twenty-four years a democratic convention was working without the guiding hand of Bryan and for seven years without the word of Wilson.

There was spirited guessing, deduction and attempted conclusion at what President Wilson might wish, hope, or acquiesce in, but apparently nothing more.

Senator Glass confirmed reports that President Wilson was not taking any hand in the situation.

"The president has not communicated with me regarding candidates," said Mr. Glass. "A report that, in recent conversations he had indicated who he supported is not true. As the situation looks to me tonight each crowd thinks its candidate can win and until some one is convinced otherwise, the deadlock will continue."

The Cox people, outwardly expect to win tomorrow. The McAdoo people, having checked their downward slide, girded up for a new drive to break the Cox column tomorrow. The Palmer people, declaring that the Cox and McAdoo can have their votes, expressed hope for themselves but only indirectly.

Each of the three appears to have a strange hold on the other two. McAdoo forces in the late Saturday night balloting recovered the one-third vote power they had lost. Cox forces retained theirs steadily from the time they acquired it in the initial balloting, although their margin fluctuated. Palmer forces possessed it in fact, through state delegations, which although the unit in a block for McAdoo or Cox by the unit, retained discordant elements, which when released would become effective in adding to the deadlock.

The growing impatience of the delegates with repeated casting of solid blocks for candidates who showed no promise of becoming successful dark horses is expected to show itself tomorrow.

Late Saturday night there was increasing evidence of temper against the adamant attitude of those who would not release their votes. The politics of their apparent stubbornness was that they lost control by allowing the rule. Their position was greeted Saturday night with shouts of "Come out of it" and "Hire a hall" and the like.

McAdoo forces tonight were banking on the proposition that the Cox forces, if they hope to win, must trot out every reserve vote they possess when the balloting is resumed tomorrow morning at 1 o'clock. It is hoped for a Cox victory that the Cox people, confident that they have McAdoo stopped, despite his last ballot rally Saturday night, planned to continue their campaign to wear him out. The Cox people, declaring that the whole week's effort had been a failure, argued that it had been a failure.

Scattered seventeen ways from three leaders to Champ Clark and Woodrow Wilson, there was no doubt whatever that the votes of the convention were ready for any lucky man who could turn one of those lucky tricks of a congressman, namely, pull a presidential nomination out of a hat.

With the three leaders knocking their heads together, the candidates of lesser strength showed renewed determination to keep their favorites in the running.

The attitude of the dark horse backers, who on the last ballot of Saturday night had a combined voting strength of one-tenth of the convention, helped to lock the situation tighter. For the present, the dark horse pullers, the new of the big three without breaking the block of votes seemed to be a remote one.

The list of dark horses for whom movement seemed to be on foot still included John W. Davis of West Virginia, Senator Glass of Virginia, Senator Owen of Oklahoma, Homer S. Cummings of Connecticut and Bainbridge Colby. Champ Clark was talked of by some and so was Vice President Marshall. There was an indication that Indiana, which supported him solidly at the outset, might soon return to him if the deadlock continues.

The two votes for President Wilson in the twenty-second ballot, the first to be cast for him throughout the long grind of roll calls, were regarded as prophetic of a swing in his direction. The idea of his nomination for a third

Three Injured in Auto Crash

Machine Crashed Through Fence and Rolled Down Fifty Foot Embankment Near Torrington.

Torrington, Conn., July 4.—Three men were injured, one probably fatally, when an automobile crashed through a fence and rolled down a 50-foot embankment on the Torrington-Thomaston road near here tonight. The three injured were brought to a hospital here. They are: Daniel Forman of Woodhaven, L. I., driver of the machine, has several fractured ribs and other injuries; his brother, Archibald Forman, of George Hommondbra, also of Woodhaven. A fourth man in the car was not hurt.

For that reason they declared they saw little prospect of successful efforts to fix up a ticket over Sunday. Some of these leaders, wise old campaigners, declared that it was next to impossible to deliver the vote. They are: Senator Robinson of Arkansas, convention chairman, also said he saw no sign of a decision between the leaders.

"But if one of them is not nominated," said Mr. Robinson, "a dark horse will be chosen Tuesday. I either develop the necessary majority tomorrow, and I have no information tonight that indicates any change in the deadlock, something will have to be done, and I look for a nomination not later than Tuesday."

In the present situation, Senator Robinson said, he was taking pains to have no part, because of his official position. Tonight, however, he was one of the McAdoo managers, issued this statement:

"We propose to press with renewed force the movement to nominate McAdoo. We believe the republicans at Chicago presented us with a magnificent opportunity for victory this fall. A hotel-made nomination here will case opportunity to the republicans and rob the democratic party of the privilege of continuing as the party of progress."

"There is more at stake here than the personal ambition of any one," said Mr. Moore, of Youngtown, Ohio, the Cox manager, said tonight he cared to make no statement on the situation, but related an incident which he said reflected in his opinion that Cox would be nominated within an hour and a half after the convention begins balloting tomorrow morning, and offered to make it. He said he would not be nominated within two and a half hours.

It was agreed that the winner would contribute the money to the democratic national campaign.

GOMPERS COMMENTS ON DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM

San Francisco, July 4.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, today telegraphed the Associated Press this comment on the platform adopted by the democratic national convention:

"From the viewpoint of the present impending political campaign it is too early to say anything regarding the declarations of the convention which are still in the air. I am, however, by what it has declared and by whom it selects as its standard bearer, the delegation of the American Federation of Labor which attended the convention, will shortly issue a statement setting forth labor's attitude toward the platform adopted."

Mr. Gompers denied published reports of nomination of Senator Francisco that he had commented adversely on the platform.

'FRISCO'S PLANS FOR FOURTH ARE UPSET

San Francisco, July 4.—Protraction of the convention has caused many embarrassments to delegates and visitors, including swollen hotel bills and disrupted railroad and traveling plans. The extension, however, disarranged plans of San Francisco for a civic celebration of the Fourth of July tomorrow.

The convention auditorium has been engaged by a citizens' committee for a public dance, with afternoon fireworks and other entertainment in the park outside.

With more fireworks promised inside than outside the auditorium tomorrow, the citizens' committee was arranging to hold their dance on the asphalt.

BRYAN SUGGESTS DEMOCRATS SEEK NEW CANDIDATE

San Francisco, July 4.—William J. Bryan said tonight that he considered it expedient for the convention to go outside the list of candidates already before it for a nominee, and that he would suggest a number of men.

"It is hardly fair, for the friends of the nominated candidates to assume that the democratic party is insolvent. I shall include in my list the names of men from various sections of the United States, including the south. I have always insisted that the sectional advantage, the so-called sectional advantage, is very largely over-estimated. As far back as 1896, I told party leaders that I had no objection to a southern man for the ticket with me."

"Sixteen years ago, at St. Louis, I seconded the nomination of Senator Cocker of Missouri. My theory is that the people are better judges of self-government than a man stands on than in the section in which he lives."

In connection with his list of possible candidates, Mr. Bryan mentioned Justice Louis D. Brandeis of the supreme court.

"While I believe in the eleventh hour entry into the vineyard, provided a man proves himself to be a convert to progressive views," said Mr. Bryan, "but I think that the credentials of such an aspirant ought to be carefully examined whether he comes into the party or into the field of reform."

Mr. Bryan today was receiving visitors constantly, many of whom urged him to engage actively in the presidential contest. He related to all, however, that he was making no effort to organize a fight either for or against any one.

"I don't object to telling the good points, whether fourteen or less, of any candidate," said Mr. Bryan, "but I refuse to share the responsibility for a man whom I consider unavailable. When a delegate rushed to me with a warning that if I did not help nominate Mr. So-and-so, Mr. Blank would be nominated, I said, 'I do not think it wise to do wrong simply because somebody else may do so. I am not responsible for anything except my vote or influence and that will not be used for any one, who, in my judgment, would be less than the most available man I know among those who are candidates.'"

Mr. Bryan declined to enter at length upon a discussion of the merits of the present candidates and contented himself with repeating his objections to Governor Cox of Ohio and William O. McAdoo.

"My principal objection to Governor Cox," he said, "is that he is wet, and

Mine Guards Kill Three Organizers

Representatives of United Mine Workers of America Shot in Fight in West Virginia.

Charleston, W. Va., July 4.—Three organizers of the United Mine Workers of America have been killed in a fight with mine guards at Roderfield, McDowell county, today, according to a telegram received by C. F. Keeney, district president here.

The scene of the shooting is several miles from a telephone, and efforts to secure details were futile. According to information received late tonight at Williamson, sixty miles from Roderfield, the three mine organizers were killed and a number of other persons, including deputy sheriffs, were injured in a battle between the organizers and deputies.

HARDING AT ZANESVILLE AFTER 12 HOUR TRIP

Zanesville, Ohio, July 4.—After being on the road nearly twelve hours, Senator Harding, the republican candidate for president, and Mrs. Harding reached here tonight from Cumberland, en route to their home in Marion, Ohio, by automobile.

Today's trip, which covered more than 200 miles, was uneventful, with stops being made only in Washington, Pa., where the senator and Mrs. Harding lunch, and a cousin, Robert W. Parkinson, Jr., an attorney, and at Wheeling, W. Va.

Contrary to his experience yesterday, Senator Harding was repeatedly recognized during his trip today by persons residing in the towns through which he passed.

As the senator left his hotel at Cumberland, a crowd gathered to shake hands with him. "I am for you, senator, but I can't vote yet," exclaimed one woman as she grasped his hand. "I am inclined to think you will," responded Senator Harding.

At Wheeling several friends met him on the outskirts and escorted him to a local hotel, where an informal reception was held lasting nearly thirty minutes. Senator and Mrs. Harding plan to leave

TWENTY ARE KILLED IN RAILROAD CATASTROPHE

Thirty-Five Others Injured When Limited Running at High Speed Crashed Into Local on Lackawanna and Wyoming Valley Railroad Near Scranton—Wooden Cars Were Demolished and Occupants Were Trapped in Debris—First Time in Road's History That a Passenger Had Been Killed—Official Investigation Will Be Started Tomorrow.

Scranton, Pa., July 4.—Responsibility for last evening's wreck on the Lackawanna and Wyoming Valley railroad at South Pittston had not been fixed tonight and officials of the company were authority for the statement that no investigation would be commenced until Tuesday.

A careful checking up of the list of dead and injured today showed that 29 persons lost their lives and that 35 were seriously injured. Of the latter, two or three are perhaps fatally injured, while half a dozen at least will be maimed for life.

General Manager Murphy of the road in a statement given out today declared that no investigation of the accident would be made until Tuesday, and pointed to the fact that it was the first time in the 17 years' history of the road that a passenger had been killed.

Although it was an hour before night-fall and quite light and a fuselage had been sent back from the local, the limited ran at high speed and literally plowed through the two rear cars of the local. They were wooden cars and splintered into kindling, plunging the occupants where they sat. Governor W. C. Sprules is the president and principal stockholder of the operating company.

One of the passengers on the wrecked train was Miss Estlin Tinsley, superintendent of the Pittston hospital. PLACED HUGE BOMB NEAR WATERBURY HOMES

Waterbury, Conn., July 4.—Bernard Favalo, 24, and Mike Kalachuk, 22, both said to be strikers, who were arrested last night, were taken to the local police to have admitted they concealed the monstrous bomb found yesterday in a clump of bushes near the homes of prominent men, including Governor Judge Larkin of the district court. Favalo, it is said, was one of the men arrested after the riot in which one striker was killed, several injured, and three police officers taken to the hospital. He was held for several days and then released.

The police say they have found sufficient information to obtain an arrest warrant for the two men. They are being held in the city jail. The police say they have found sufficient information to obtain an arrest warrant for the two men. They are being held in the city jail.

NEW HAVEN POLICE INVESTIGATE EXPLOSION

New Haven, Conn., July 4.—The police are investigating a dynamite explosion which occurred early today in the eastern section of this city and which caused some alarm in the neighborhood. The explosion broke a number of windows in two houses, tore away part of a fence and dug a deep hole in the ground between the two dwellings. One of the houses is occupied by Vincenzo Lauri and his family and the other by Thomas V. Barberi and his family. The police said that they were of the opinion that it was caused by a fourth of July celebrator, but fire marshal Perkins said dynamite had been used.

FEAR LEST TENNESSEE VOTES DOWN SUFFRAGE

San Francisco, July 4.—Women suffragists, fearful that the state constitution of Tennessee might be lost to the cause, tonight began an intensive effort here to raise funds to fight for ratification of the constitutional amendment through the legislature.

"Official reports which I have received show there is a shortage of votes for suffrage in both the senate and the house," said Mrs. Abby Scott Baker of the "women's party."

Tennessee delegates in the convention here express confidence that the legislature will ratify the amendment.

GENERAL GORGAS DIES IN LONDON

London, July 4.—Major General William C. Gorgas, former surgeon general of the United States army, died here early today.
